said the undertaker, "but when I found him alive, I believed my journey would be a joyous surprise for his parents rather than a funeral procession. Now I am afraid that I will have to take him home in a coffin after all. As soon as we reach New York I must place him in a hospital. I will have him taken to my home."

And so she did. The most comfortable room in the flat at No. 1322 Amsterdam avenue was placed at the disposition of the sick soldier. He had the best medical attendance and his every want was anticipated and filled by Miss Millard. The undertaker, convinced that the soldier boy was in good hands, went home to tell the sorrowing parents that their boy, instead of being dead, would soon be in position to visit them.

Yesterday young Belcher insisted on going home. He was dressed, and with the assistance of a young man in a bicycle suit, Miss Millard put him on an Amsterdam avenue car and took him to the Grand Central Station. Weak as he was, he refused to allow her to assist him to the train, and his efforts to climb up on the steps of the car were pitiful. At 3:28 o'clock he got away for Philadelphia and arrived home safely yesterday evening.

A crowd of young women talked over the affair in the Millard flat after the soldier had gone. They touched on the romance, "I don't know," said one of the young women, "but I think it was a clever play of—(meaning the young man in the bicycle suit)—to help the soldier to the train."

"I don't know," either, said another young woman, "but I'll just bet that soldier suit goes further than a bicycle suit these times."

BICYCLIST KILLS HIMSELF IN PARK.

Found Lying on His Wheel Under a Tree with a Bullet Hole in His Head.

An unknown man about forty years old, dressed in a bicycle suit, committed suicide in Central Park, near Ninety-fifth street, yesterday morning. His head rested on the spokes of the front wheel of his bicycle.

William Wilkins, of No. 296 West Sixty-first street, and Charles Sweeney, of No. 529 West Forty-sixth street, found him lying under a tree, between the bridge path and the walk on the reservoir. Blood was still oozing from a wound near his right ear. His right hand held a revolver. The body was removed to the morgue.

He is about 5 feet 7 inches tall, with black hair and black mustache, slender complexion, and wore a slate colored bicycle jacket, striped knickerbockers, blue golf stockings, bicycle shoes and navy blue outing shirt.

Out of Work, He Drank Iodine.

Harry Boynton, twenty-eight years old, of No. 607 Eighth avenue, attempted suicide yesterday morning by drinking a quantity of iodine. He was found lying on the sidewalk at Central Park West and One Hundredth street. He said he was out of work and had not eaten a square meal in years. He was removed to Manhattan Hospital, where he will recover.

MURPHY WON THE CASE OF WINE.

His Own Donation, and He Presented It to the Yacht Charlotte.

DALY MADE A FINE RECORD

Killed Sixty-two Birds Straight in the Eight Events at Elkwood Park.

Long Branch, N. J., Sept. 10.—Edgar Gibbs Murphy surprised the shooters at Elkwood Park traps this afternoon by winning his own wine prize donation. He presented a case of G. H. Munson's, which he claims, is "the only" champagne.

In addition to the donor there were five well-known wing shots who were anxious to capture the wine. They were Captain A. W. Money, of Oakland, N. J.; Phil Daly, Jr., of Long Branch; W. C. Churchill, of Louisville, Ky.; Dr. George S. Gagnon, of Chicago; and A. L. Ivins, of Red Bank. In addition to the wine $50 went to the winner, the entrance being $5. Five birds were shot at. Money, Daly and Murphy finished with all birds killed and Churchill, Gagnon and Ivins each had four to their credit.

The tie was shot off in a miss-and-out event. Murphy and Daly tied on the second round and divided the money. Money missed his third bird. Murphy was shooting for the wine to be presented to the steam yacht Charlotte, owned by Walter Paton, of Pleasant Bay. He and Daly decided their tie in a $10 miss-and-out, when the yacht Charlotte became the owner of "the Edgar's" favorite brand of wine by the donor killing twelve birds to Daly's one.

The opening event was a three-cornered match between Gagnon, Money and Daly for $25 a corner. Gagnon withdrew on the twelfth round, having failed to score his eighth, eleventh and twelfth birds. Daly and Money killed out straight and divided. Daly did remarkable shooting during the afternoon by killing sixty-two birds straight. He also divided five of the eight events decided.

Six $10 miss and out events were shot. In the first, Daly, Murphy and Murphy tied with five. Ivins and Money scored one and Gagnon none. The tie was decided in the second event, when Money and Daly and Ivins divided on the eleventh round. Churchill killed ten, Gagnon eight and Murphy two.

The third event was a tie between Money and Ivins on the twelfth round. Murphy scored eleven, Daly and Churchill one each, and Gagnon none. Murphy and Daly divided the following event on the fifth round. Money killed four, Ivins four and Gagnon one. The next event went to Money and Daly, who split the money on the seventh round. Gagnon got six and Murphy one. Daly and Money also divided the last event, each killing his first bird, while Murphy failed to score.

COURT TO SETTLE EAST BAY QUARREL.

Property Dispute Between Smith Heirs and Brookhaven May Be Ended.

After years of vain attempt at peaceful settlement the courts are to be called upon to appoint a commission to divide the East Bay between the Smith heirs and the town of Brookhaven. The property includes about fifteen square miles. It is valuable for its fishing, crabbing, shooting and oystering, the privileges of the same being valued at $50,000.

Twice have the Smith heirs offered to sell their half to Brookhaven, and each time the people have voted down the proposition. The majority of the people, however, are favorable to the purchase of the Smith interest, but are afraid of an imperfect title. The Smiths first obtained title to the bay under patent rights granted them by the British sovereigns. There are five different patents under which the town owns the South Bay property.

Every effort has been made by the Smiths to sell to the town. The final effort in this line was put forth at a meeting of the town trustees yesterday, but the Smiths would not come to terms.

The matter will be brought up before the Supreme Court at once and pushed to a speedy settlement.

SCREENING "LIARS AND FORGERS."

Clemenceau Bitterly Assails
Those Opposing Dreyfus Revision.

FRANCE DEMANDS LIGHT.

Public Opinion Likely to Force a Revision in Spite of Army Opposition.

Special Cable to the Journal.
(Copyright, 1898, by W. R. Hearst.)

Paris, Sept. 10.—War Minister Zurlinden hesitates regarding a revision of the Dreyfus case. Two explanations are offered of this hesitancy. The first is that his military friends have implored him to oppose revision; the second is that corruption is so widespread in the higher army circles that he fears to let in the light. Still, revision is in sight, for at the Council meeting to-day, Brisson and Sarrailh strengthened his backbone.

President Faure is expected to relieve the present strain in a speech to be delivered on Monday, at the military manoeuvres.

Clemenceau has just said to me: "Faure and Zurlinden have neither the intellectual strength nor the moral fibre necessary to deal ably with this far-reaching question."

"Look at the kind of men whom certain officials would screen: Esterhazy, a forger; Paty du Clam, a forger; Henry, a forger and suicide; and Generals Boisdore, Cavaignac and Billot, public liars!"

Opinion in the provinces is hourly strengthening in favor of Dreyfus. Almost all the provincial papers demand a revision. This is now considered by the ministers as more important than the attitude of the Parisian press. The attitude of the principal colleges and universities is summed up in the following expression of a Parisian professor of the College of France:

"We do not go into the question of the guilt or innocence of Dreyfus, but we demand revision, lest the illegality committed in his case may be repeated in others."

The women of France were the bitterest enemies of Dreyfus. To-day Madame Severine said to me:

"All intellectual women of France now demand a revision in this case. We demand a revision, not with closed doors, but with open doors."

a revision which will let in the light of day."

The final expression of the anti-Dreyfus men to-day is the query: In case of revision, how can Dreyfus be got to Paris? The army will not guard him, the police are not favorably disposed toward him. Answering my question as to how the agitation will affect France, former Deputy Reichsach said: "Outside of France there are only two countries where such an agitation would be possible. These are England and the United States."

SAGASTA'S FALL IS IMMINENT.

Last Days of the Spanish Ministry Believed Now to Be at Hand.

Madrid, Sept. 9, via Bayonne, Sept. 10.—The position of the Ministry has been greatly shaken by the charges made to-day (Friday) against the Government, collectively and individually, by Senor Canalejas, editor of El Heraldico, and now a recognized lieutenant in the newly organized party headed by General Polavieja. It is believed that Senor Canalejas has documents to support his accusations of incapacity against Lieutenant-General Correa, Minister for War, and Captain Anon, Minister of Marine.

A majority of the Cabinet listened to the speech, and the silence of the Ministerial deputies was most significant.

A Minister, in reply to a question to-day as to the rumor that a Ministerial crisis is imminent, said it was idle to attempt to conceal the fact that a crisis was inevitable and would come next week, after the Chambers had adopted the Government's bill authorizing the alienation of national territory as a condition of peace. The Queen Regent, it is understood, informed Senor Sagasta yesterday that she would continue to bestow her confidence upon him for some days yet.

Several prominent deputies are in favor of joining General Polavieja's party. During the Senate session to-day Senor Lauro, of Porto Rico, and Senator Pineda, of Cuba, violently attacked the United States for "having seized the Antilles, regardless of justice and legality," and for "discarding the mask of humanity assumed in order to get possession of the two islands, the great majority of whose people is devoted to Spain."

General Canalejas, discussing the Santiago surrender, says: "If I had considered the capitulation contrary to the honor of my country and of the troops who had been my command for three years, I should have replaced myself at their head to prevent the town being given up."

St. Vincent's Property Mortgaged.

The property owned and occupied by St. Vincent's Hospital, at Seventh avenue and Eleventh street, including the memorial building presented by the estate of Hubert Kelly, has been mortgaged for the sum of $200,000. The mortgage, which is for a period of one year at 4 per cent, is in favor of the Mortgage Industrial Savings Bank.
